

PH calls for 'new thinking' in non-aligned movement

By Jerry E. DiNapoli

THE PHILIPPINES has called for a paradigm shift for the 77th session of the Non-Aligned Movement (NAM), stressing the need to "replace the old dogma of national liberation with a commitment to democracy and good governance."

The call was made in Dili, Indonesia, which hosted the 10th NAM Ministerial Conference and a commemorative meeting on the 50th anniversary of the organization.

Kingel Indonevictory for Indonesia and Timor-Leste, head of the Philippine Delegation to the May 23-27 conference, emphasized that "while we must defend our past and welcome ourselves to our principles, we must also broaden the bottom of our movement."

In his remarks, Belarussian pointed out that "the driving force that brought us together 50 years ago was the fight for national freedom, not individual freedom."

"Today, democracy and good governance are no longer free and easy to achieve," he said.

Underlining greater cooperation between and among NAM members, Belarussian also identified "an economy of high importance to the movement," including targeted economic rights, the strength of national weapons and the United Nations' central role in global peace and security. Later in a statement, Belarussian said, "Adherence to democracy and the institution of good governance will help ensure the existing environment that will allow citizens and people to participate actively and share in the fruits of sustained global peace, progress and prosperity."

"The Philippines under President Aquino is fully committed to democratic values and good governance, and we will do our utmost to work with our partners in NAM, at the UN and other international and regional bodies, to ensure that the institution of democracy are broadened and that good governance serves as the backbone for nations," he said.

Founded in 1961, NAM groups countries which consider themselves not formally aligned with or against any major power bloc.

In its 1978 Buenos Aires Declaration, the movement said it aims to ensure the "national independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity and security of non-aligned countries to their people against imperialism, colonialism, racism, and all forms of foreign aggression, occupation, domination, intervention, as well as against great power and bloc politics."

In March 2010, the Philippines hosted the Special NAM Ministerial Meeting on Interfaith Dialogue and Cooperation for Peace and Development, where more than 120 delegates signed the Manila Declaration calling for respect for cultural and religious diversity and the promotion of tolerance and inclusion in dialogue.

Under the 34-point declaration, NAM member countries reaffirmed that "dialogue among cultures, civilizations and religions should be a dynamic process, and that it is not an option but a must in promoting economic and social development, peace and security, and human rights."

Foreign students must get visas, permits—BI

THE BUREAU of Immigration (BI) has reminded foreign students according to study in the Philippines to secure a student visa or study permit from the bureau before enrolling in a school.

Immigration Commissioner Ricardo David Jr. issued the reminder as classes are set to start on June 5.

The bureau expects foreign students to arrive by the end of the month to start their classes, mainly in private schools.

David said schools may not admit foreigners without student visas or study permits.

"We, school must be notified or authorized by the BI before it can accept foreign students, or the school will be fined for violating immigration laws," he said.

Lawyer Simon Lina, chief of the BI student desk, said that those wishing to enroll in elementary and high schools, and those taking special courses such as language manuals, must apply for a special study permit (DSP).

The BI student desk processes or said embassy applications for student visas and DSPs and forwards them to the consulate's office for approval.

The fee for a student permit application is P6,500, while an DSP application costs P6,740.

David advised foreign students to pay directly to the bureau's treasury to avoid being victimized by immigration brokers.

After Malta vote, House body tackles divorce bill

Separation widespread

Legal separation is widespread in the European Union's member states, but there are many legal obstacles to reuniting.

The Church, which has a large role in the societies where 75 percent of the population claim the faith, did not campaign for family in the referendum.

However, Italian Archbishop Cardinal Geronzi, head of the bishops' conference, said in a letter they faced a choice between building and destroying family values.

"By this vote, the states will either build or destroy a choice in favor of permanent marriage. It is not a choice of faith in the family but a choice of law which cannot be reversed," said the letter, which was read out at Mass.

In addition, priests have reportedly declined to refuse communion to those who vote "yes" in the referendum.

Philippines moves

Following the vote in Malta, the Philippine House committee on marriage announced it would begin on Wednesday discussions on a bill seeking to legalize divorce.

"So far, we just keep our country in the dark ages," said Gabriela Raga, San Roque, 7, up to his colleagues in Congress to let the legislative bill run its course on the divorce bill without further delay and give Philippine couples the opportunity and happiness marriage brings.

Speaker Francisco Duque, a widower, said divorce is the best choice for many. "It is very difficult to let two people who cannot live together continue to live together."

Expand commitment

Sen. Pia Cayson, chair of the Senate committee on family, marriage and family relations, said it was time to expand the definition of commitment of marriage beyond the Philippines to its grounds of psychological incapacity.

"Call it divorce, call it marriage annulment (BAC) there is no real change because the result is, it is one of the sacraments, practices are kept together," she said.

But Senate Majority Leader Benito Sotelo is cautious: "Let's not get into the habit of saying what other countries are doing."

Not a question of votes

The Philippine Catholic hierarchy, following the position of the Church in Malta, announced that it would oppose any attempt to legalize divorce in the country through a referendum at the Maltese national assembly.

"Referendums are merely a political, not a moral exercise," said Archbishop Ramon Socrates, head of the bishops' Episcopal Conference in Manila and the Philippines.

"What is right or wrong is not dependent on how many votes for it," said Archbishop Socrates. "The Church's moral teaching is not a question of popular vote."

Cardinal Socrates said the Philippines remains to be the only country without divorce.

He noted that the Philippines is a country where still exist, that we are not perfect, which is a tragedy because our citizens find that happiness in the world," he said. With reports from AFP Cynthia A. Salinas, US & Philippines, and Christian E. Espinoza and Joseph A. Ly.

Vettel bags fifth GP win at Monaco

MONACO—Sebastian Vettel pointed from a large drink of beer to win Sunday's Monaco Grand Prix and strengthen his championship lead, beating Fernando Alonso and Lewis Hamilton in a thrilling and incident-packed race that several drivers failed to finish.

Defending F1 champion Vettel has won five of six races so far but still has one race, with only McLaren's Lewis Hamilton beating him in the title.

"It was unbelievable, the race today was pretty amazing," Vettel, who started from pole position for the 10th time this season, said. "The engine hasn't been here yet, right and kept on going."

After two laps Hamilton led by 56 points, but Red Bull teammate Mark Webber hit him, forcing him to retire by 74.

"We tried to win, there were a lot of things and a lot of things," Alonso said. "I think I don't think I'm possible."

Alonso's second place is the best performance of the season for the two-time former F1 champion, who finished fourth ahead of Spanish Grand Prix winner and Hamilton.

Three-time former champion Michael Schumacher, Ferrari's Felipe Massa, and Vettel's teammate, who finished sixth, were among those who failed to finish.

Novak gains semis; Roger sets new mark

PRINCE—Roger Federer set yet another record by reaching the French Open quarterfinals Sunday, and Novak Djokovic moved to the next round of his own.

Federer clinched his quarterfinal win at a record 10th match with a 6-3, 6-2, 7-6 victory over Olympic gold medalist double partner Nicolas Pietrangeli.

"I really enjoyed playing in a city that's great," Federer said. "But I really enjoyed playing in a city that's great."

He also won his match on Court Philippe Chatriu, Federer's traditional home ground, by beating Rafael Nadal of France, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2.

My warmest greetings to the Asian Hospital and Medical Center as you celebrate your 9th Anniversary. May you further build on your nine years of professional excellence and dedication to raising the standards of your services, that you may serve the Filipino people to the best of their interests.

The Asian Hospital and Medical Center has grown much potential even in your early years. Your efforts to provide nothing but the best services to your patients and clients are indeed admirable. It is my greatest hope that the skilled professionals among your ranks, through your services, have pledged to help our government deliver our promise of a healthier and a more empowered citizenry. It is my fervent hope that you continue your tradition of delivering medical and health services with trust, skill, tenor, and integrity. In this way, you can help establish a better and more equitable progressive Philippines, one where every Filipino has access to quality healthcare - where every Filipino is assured in his conviction that his welfare is of the utmost priority to the state.

As the bright light of hope and reform illumines our path, the time has come for us to steer away from the crooked system of greed and apathy and forge a system that will bring about the genuine, lasting change we have all been seeking for. The road we have taken may not be the easiest, but I am confident that with our collective efforts, we can surmount any obstacle and we can prove the strength of our character. We are resolutely moving toward the fulfillment of our dreams.

President of the Republic of the Philippines

My cordial greetings and best wishes to the medical staff and administration of the Asian Hospital and Medical Center on the occasion of its 9th anniversary this May 2011.

On this occasion, let me extend my sincere appreciation for your continued commitment in providing quality and world-class medical and healthcare services to our people. Our administration has placed the health of our constituents at the center of its socio-economic programs and targets. We believe that they deserve no less than the same quality of healthcare services advanced and modern countries provide to their people.

I urge you to strongly support our city government's vital health programs that promote the vital well-being of our people. I am honored to know the AHMC is our exclusive partner in the realization of the worthy goal. Together, we strive to achieve the highest level of health care delivery with excellence and efficiency.

May your success in safeguarding the health of your patients be your inspiration as you carry on with your mission to cure those who are not in the best of health. It is also our city government's thrust to uplift the quality of life and improve the health for all of us. Please accept my gratitude for your support to the City of Muntinlupa as among the performers in community service particularly in the health care sector. It is my sincere hope that we continue to work together in providing quality service to our people.

Again, I congratulate the administration and staff of AHMC including its medical professionals, doctors and nurses for their expertise and commitment in rendering comprehensive and holistic approach to health care. May you always pursue your chosen profession with a deep commitment to professional excellence and with sincere concern for the welfare and best interests of the people.

I wish that your institution would remain an indispensable partner of the city government in promoting the health and welfare of our people.

ASIAN HOSPITAL AND MEDICAL CENTER

YEAR NINE:

Expanding Facilities For Your Growing Needs

Quality of service: This has been the single-minded thrust of Asian Hospital and Medical Center for the past nine years. "We believe excellent caring is the most important part of healthcare. Giving only the best care to anyone that comes to us for medical care is non-negotiable," says Theo Siller, CEO.

Asian Hospital and Medical Center is the first facility of its kind in the Southern Luzon corridor that stands ten stories high on a sprawling, landscaped 17,250 square meter compound—encompassing the main hospital, outpatient service centers, a conference facility and a medical office building.

Our five-star hotel ambience—lobby, waiting areas and comfort, lounges, patients' rooms, and public areas—make people feel like guests on a vacation rather than patients in a sick bed.

To best give our patients the essence of our service, we invest in highly efficient technology. For instance, our MRI CT Scan that serve all departments, the Fully-Integrated Minimally Invasive Operating Room, the special OR-Spine Table (the only one in Southeast Asia for Orthopedic procedures, considerably reduce our patient's discomfort, time in the hospital, and their exposure to radiation.

We take pride in our Heart Station and new Catherization Laboratory that answer the preventive and restorative needs of patients through advanced diagnostic techniques. We have innovated the Total Joint Replacement Unit for surgical care of patients with arthritis, joint problems, and sports-related injuries. We provide comprehensive cancer treatments, focusing on early detection through the latest available technologies and minimally invasive procedures with machines that visualize inside details.

In March 2005, Sunungrad Hospital became the partner of Asian Hospital and Medical Center. As a result, we are benefiting from the Knowledge Gate of a world-class Hospital.

We are looking at a future where excellent medical services will be affordable and available to all. We envision a Center of Excellence where major hospitals can learn up, share equipment and expertise to serve the people for whom we are at hand.

On our 9th year, we have taken steps to make this happen, and take healthcare to the next level.

Cops nab cab-riding robbers in QC

Police say suspects also molested victims who were call center agents

By Nancy C. Canlas

THE POLICE have arrested two men who picked up call center agents working the graveyard shift in a taxi cab and then robbed and molested them.

Sgt. Orlando de Guzman, the head of the Quezon City Police District Station 10, identified the two men as Alberto Garcia, 37, and Ramon Jose Garcia, 30.

de Guzman said the two men were able to intimidate at least three call center agents before they were arrested.

The police said the two men were arrested in a taxi cab with the name 'Miguel' (1775-2005). One of the men was seen on the taxi driver while the other would crash down on the floor of the taxi passenger seat.

To take him from the passenger's view, the man would be lifted forward.

Polish drug mule nabbed in Manila

By Jaymie T. Gault

A POLISH woman believed to be a member of the West African Drug Brigade (WADB) has been arrested in an anti-narcotics operation conducted by the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI).

Barbara Eln Szendowicz, a 35-year-old native of Poland who lives in Dublin, Ireland, was pricked up by agents in a hotel in Ermita, Manila, on Saturday.

Her arrest was part of a follow-up operation following the capture of another member of the brigade, an Irish-born woman, earlier this month.

Ms. Eln Szendowicz was arrested on May 10 at the Manila Airport International Airport based on a tip provided by another tipster. A search of her name was made and 2.26 kilos of high-grade batch of metamorphosis hydrocodone salt or "white" valued at P117 million.

Szendowicz initially stated in the attempt to make the drug dealer, Agustin, who, at that time, was already in custody of the NBI.

The credible, however, was apparently someone that Agustin had been arrested because a leader of the group, identified only as Freddy, continued to call her up to give instructions.

Upon the NBI's counting Agustin told Szendowicz that the task was to deliver the drugs to his contact in Manila.

She was arrested after the NBI officers found her in a hotel in Manila to take her to jail.

Germany to close all nuclear plants by 2022

BREITENBURG—Germany on Monday became the first major industrialized power to agree to shut all nuclear plants in the wake of the disaster in Japan, with a plan that due to be completed by 2022.

Chancellor Angela Merkel said the decision, announced last by her cabinet, marked the start of a "fundamental" rethink of energy policy in the world's richest nation.

"We want the electricity of the future to be robust and at the same time reliable and affordable," Merkel said in a speech to parliament.

"That means we must have a new approach in the supply network, enough efficient, renewable energy and also long-term financing of the process," she said.

The committee that will be set up to lead the nation's efforts to shut down all 17 of its nuclear reactors, eight of which are currently shut for safety and environmental reasons, said the decision was a landmark vote between the ruling coalition partners. But the decision was not "irrevocable," Merkel said, because of the possibility of a change in the coalition's elected majority, which the federal government said depends on future coalition partners' ability to vote on the Fukushima emergency.

The decision is a landmark in itself, Merkel said, because it shows the German government's commitment to safety and the environment.

"We are not alone in this," Merkel said, "but we are the first to take such a decision." She said the decision was a landmark in itself, because it shows the German government's commitment to safety and the environment.

Already facing the environmental sanctions from the European Union, Germany had called for the temporary suspension of the new reactors by the end of 2011.

2 Fukushima workers may have exceeded radiation limit

TOKYO—Two workers at Japan's crippled nuclear power plant may have exceeded the government's radiation exposure limit, the plant operator said, adding to concerns about health risks for those fighting the world's most serious disaster in 35 years.

It continued, a worker would reach the limit of 250 millisieverts (mSv) in a year, the plant operator said.

Yemen forces kill 20 protesters as they disperse sit-in demo

SANAA— Forces loyal to the embattled Yemeni leader killed 20 protesters as they dispersed a sit-in in Taiz, an organizer said on Monday, as suspected al-Qaida gunmen killed four soldiers in the south.

Security forces again backed by army and Republican Guard troops, overran the protest against President Ali Abdullah Saleh in Taiz on Monday, an organizer said. The forces used tear gas and live fire to disperse the protesters.

"At least 20 protesters have been killed," one of the protest organizers said.

Protesters backed by tanks stormed a field hospital and looted it, the organizer said. The wounded protesters were taken to the city's hospitals, the organizer said.

"This was a massacre. They have killed the wounded off to the desert," the organizer said.

Protesters said the forces had been ordered to kill, while security forces claimed they were not involved in the killings.

The Communist Front opposition coalition condemned the "crimes against humanity" committed by Saleh's "military, police and security forces and allied forces." It warned the national president he would be "held personally responsible for his continued crimes against the people." These crimes do not get forgotten with time, they are being monitored and documented, and those who have committed them, and who provided arms and money will not escape justice." The four-month-old sit-in is the largest since the 2011 Arab Spring protests.

The clashes erupted on Sunday evening outside a nearby police station as some 3,000 people gathered to demand the release of a detained prisoner.

Police fired warning shots then fired into the crowd when the demonstrators refused to leave, a local committee of the "March of the Revolution" group said.

On March 18, 12 people died when police fired tear gas and fired into the crowd, the committee said.

In the south, suspected al-Qaida gunmen ambushed a military car on the way to the city of Aden, killing two people, a military official said on Monday.

A security official said on Monday that suspected al-Qaida gunmen had taken control of most of the place, the capital of Yemen province, in three days of fighting in which 21 people were killed.

"Violent army commanders issued orders of surrounding the province in 'Sanaa'," the Committee of the Revolution said. The Committee of the Revolution said that he has formed and agreed to continue to attack the army of al-Qaida in the region and in international parties. The opposition group signed up to a deal to be implemented by the committee. Anti-Overloading Law debate continues

41-ton limit for trucks shelved for now

By Alvin P. Nolasco

STAKEHOLDERS will continue the dialogue with the Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH) on the implementation of the gross vehicle weight limit provision of the Anti-Overloading Law to finalize the actual truck load provision that will be imposed.

The DPWH proposed the implementation of the gross vehicle weight provision of the law which would limit the total weight of trucks and cargo to not 41 tons. Once implemented, this would also mean that heavier trucks exceeding national load.

The provision was supposed to be implemented on May 1, but the DPWH decided to shelve this indefinitely in light of various opposition and appeals by truckers and other stakeholders.

Ismael (EDC), one of the groups that supported the postponement of the implementation of the law provision. The DPWH was still in talks with the Philippine Ports Authority, the Department of Trade and Industry, and other stakeholders to business and management for the implementation of weighing systems when the final limit is imposed.

The revised load limit for each truck and trailer type would also be considered. In an earlier interview, Public Works Secretary Rogelio Inang said the DPWH was open to stakeholders' suggestions to take the load limit to 35-40 tons, from the 41-ton under the law. On the matter, Inang said he was not a proponent. The DPWH on Feb. 1 stated enforcing the maximum allowable load limit of 41.5 tons per axle for trucks.

The EDC, in a position paper submitted to the DPWH earlier in the year, stated that the full implementation of the Anti-Overloading Law could make exporters even less competitive, as lower load limits would require more trips, adversely affecting export earnings. The group added that creating provisions of the Anti-Overloading Law could also cause delays in the delivery of important materials, which could then impact production activities. Lack of proper maintenance of bridges and roads, as well as inadequate weighing equipment, could also result in poor compliance.

To prevent any of these negative results, the law implementing the EDC, and the implementation of the law should be delayed until the DPWH had installed weighing bridges in designated weighing stations and provided the implementing rules of the law.

Bureau of Copyright to be formed under new act

THE INTELLECTUAL Property Office of the Philippines (IPOPHI) executive Bureau of Copyright is to be established soon, following the approval of the House of Representatives on final reading of a bill amending the Intellectual Property Code.

IPOPHI Director General Ricardo Manalo said the creation of the new bureau, which would be under IPOPHI, would be a significant step towards protecting IP owners in copyright-based industries such as books, film, media and music.

The creation of the bureau was one of the provisions of House Bill No.

3641, which sought to amend the country's Intellectual Property Code. Drafted by House Minority Leader Amado M. Tordesillas, the bill would be signed into law by President Arroyo. It would also require the creation of a new bureau to enforce the law.

Multi-staged for the establishment of the Bureau of Copyright, IPOPHI, based on its agreement with the National Library of the Philippines for the operation of the Copyright Registration and Deposit System (CORS), which would go live next month.

The CORS system aims to give authors, artists, inventors and other IP holders another way to protect their IP rights. Under the system, IPOPHI will accept copyright registration applications on behalf of the NLI and issue copyright certificates.

"Although registration is not the source of copyright, the process is legally required in order to complete the creation of the National Library," IPOPHI executive said. "In addition, IPOPHI recognizes the value of the copyright certificate by requiring the applicant to execute an affidavit of ownership, which will be reproduced at the back of each certificate. This serves as prima facie evidence of ownership and may be used in any proceeding."

The first two copyright registration certificates under the CORS system were issued to the House and City Agribusiness and to the Philippine Agribusiness and to the Philippine Agribusiness.

An amended law will also amend the scope of copyright infringement to include software, databases, and other digital content, as well as the management of information in digital form. (Alvin P. Nolasco)

DOTC firm on Ro-Ro deal review

By Paolo G. Manalo

THE DEPARTMENT of Transportation and Communications (DOTC) is still mulling review of several billion peso projects approved by the last administration to ensure that the government gets the best deal possible.

DOTC Undersecretary General Wilson S. Rodas last week in French consulate (Lila) stated the Department is up to the government for delays in the latter's efforts to secure the projects.

A project submitted to DOTC Secretary Jesse M. Arroyo recommended the project be completed after finding several government projects in the P1.1 billion range.

"We are reviewing all of the project's provisions, but will retain the responsibility of the DOTC to ensure the project is completed as per the law and the government," Arroyo said in a statement.

Lila Manalo's law representative, which Arroyo, at the moment and the company may file a complaint against the government with International Arbitration Center if the deal is not done.

The project, which was the construction of 72 French-owned ships, will cost around the country is funded by a loan from the French bank BNP Paribas. The loan agreement is subject to the project's completion.

The construction of the project was approved last year by the DOTC, but the project was delayed in several projects, put on hold by the DOTC, but for possible completion.

"The price of the project is not the only factor. There are other considerations," Arroyo said.

Rate hikes still possible, says BSP

By Michelle V. Ramos

THE BANGKO SENTRAL ng Pilipinas (BSP) said that inflation rates will rise in 2009, even if the economy grows slower than last year.

According to BSP Deputy Governor General (Garcia), significant inflationary pressure remains, while the slow-down in the economy is likely to be temporary.

"From a monetary perspective, we have inflationary pressure in the economy and we cannot ignore it," Garcia said. "We also believe that the inflationary pressure is temporary."

The BSP has already lifted its key policy rate twice this year, and by 25 basis points. The first was in March, and the second was in May.

These moves brought the overnight borrowing and lending rates, which influence commercial interest rates, to 4.5 percent and 6.5 percent, respectively.

Higher interest rates were meant to curb borrowing and spending, and to help the economy recover from the global financial crisis.

The BSP said that without the rate hikes, inflation could reach the 10% target, which is 5 percent for this year.

Higher interest rates, since it suppresses demand, could lead to a recession.

Travel and fitness are among Piolo's top priorities

PIOLO Pascual

Traveling keeps him 'sane' and working out has him in bed by 9 p.m., says the actor, who has been taking his favorite vitamin brand since his 20s.

By Rose C. Pano

PILOLO PASCUAL is busy—he is filming and producing a movie, making TV appearances, shooting ads for print and TV—but he believes being loaded in terms of exercise for acting out his two important things: travel and fitness.

The film and lead actor has a natural way, thanks to frequent beach trips. He admits it is hard to get down at hotel since a walk in nature, on longer trails, he breaths off to Calicut in Palawan.

It was in Palawan, actually, along with a friend and a bodybuilder, who couldn't understand each other's "beach" laughing.

From his first visit to New York, Piolo set down his own itinerary in October 1973 to 1984. It led to about 100,000 Complete Gateway Passes (now they are Paper DS). He has been making his Pilates brand for three decades.

Traveling keeps him "sane." In fact, a two-month vacation here is a quest in his contract with ABS-CBN Travel Center. He admits his first days with his family in the U.S. of going around Europe. The rest of the year, he's back in the U.S.

Travel safety

Pascual is a savvy traveler. He regularly goes online to look for good deals, and prefers to [fly] than to go overseas all in town, which often includes unnecessary stops.

Traveling with him means to stay, which often to visit and where to see the best deals.

He gives them information according to their needs. I ask them about their budget, how long they are staying, is it their first or fifth time to go. I recommend accordingly, to make it a good experience, otherwise."

He enjoys exploring family trips. The last one was to the Philippines, Vietnam, with his son, wife, nephew and niece. They actually planned to go to India. He then even gives them the visa applications. Very easy now, practical advice.

He based on affordable hotels. He went to the Ca Da Mui resort and Villa Miamia, Viet-

Buy your tickets on the SM Cinema website—and pay via Globe Gcash

SM CINEMA, the biggest local chain of movie theaters, is partnering with Globe Telecom, introducing the first mobile app in the country that will enable moviegoers to purchase tickets from the SM Cinema website, conveniently pay for a movie using their mobile phone, and watch the movie on the same day.

The new SM Cinema mobile app, available on Google Play, can be downloaded from the Google Play store, or from the App Store. After downloading the app, users can create an account, purchase tickets, and choose the "SM Gcash" payment option. Once payment has been made, the ticket will be confirmed.

The app will be used to purchase tickets, which they can view on the app. Users can also use the app to purchase tickets for the movie. DEPARTMENT STONE

THE SM LADIES WEAR COLLECTION AT PHILIPPINE FASHION WEEK

Colors and prints set the trend for stylish women and ladies who lunch, as clothes from opposite sides of the spectrum make their way from the Philippine Fashion Week runways to the racks of the Ladies Wear Section of the SM Department Store.

BOLD AND BRIGHT

It's a wonderful world as an exotic mix of spicy hues and bold brights, as well as vibrant color blocking, bring exuberance to everyday dressing.

PRINT PERFECT

This is the best time to play with prints as the prettiness of florals, the playfully abstract, and digital patterns celebrate all that's young, fun, and feminine in fashion.

Wrangler®

MOUNTING UP THE RUNWAY

From the riders to the runway, Wrangler, one of the world's top three denim brands, fired up its fashion show with the peering dash of big bikes to feel the vibe and energy of the busy streets. Ruled by the latest technology of denim with the rider's play of an electric guitar and music, Wrangler masterfully exemplified fierceness and individuality in its debut at the Philippine Fashion Week.

Wrangler's latest campaign, "My Fit, My Edge," introduced four new fits, namely Ace (Relaxed Edge), Creek (Rough Edge), Smoke (Classic Edge) and Moby (Classic Edge), dressed by masculine and feminine figures who embodied a powerful mix of ruggedness and free-spirited attitude.

The four different fits represented the four different personas: ACE the cool and laid-back Relaxed Edge, CREEK the strong-driven and adventurous Rough Edge, SMOKE the fun-loving and sophisticated Classic Edge, and MOBY the fun and very stylish Edge.

Chartered dress shirts and denim jumpuits added little to the show, along with versatile six-pack shirts and jeans frames. Accompanied by the strong appeal and confidence of the models, Wrangler pointed its stalling new line of jeans perfect for various body types and lifestyles.

The fashion show brought forward the transformation of edger and more personalized jeans. The contemporary cowboy gradually transformed to the modern biker: from leathered headpieces and checkered tops to loose, tapered jeans. To top it all off, Brazilian host David Menezes, guided the runway and held everyone out of breath, as the new brand ambassador of Wrangler in the Philippines.

Without a doubt, Wrangler is definitely the timeless edge brand of jeans that always heritage and style.

The modern twist coming from this is laid-back and this name for a motorcycle. The contemporary style remains rugged and relaxed, wearing this cool cowboy outfit with his clean-cut Wrangler jeans.

The smuggler he sold into, through this agent, high-speed smuggling across boundaries, and speed limit. Raising the red-hot and of the danger zone, the modern-day cowboy spins his untamed tale in a rapidly changing world.

REGATTA

ALL WHITE COLLECTION

All white tops and bottoms with touches of leather. Textures come through accents, belts, easy cotton jeans. The gray for a bit of color contrast. Tuxedos come through accents, belts, easy cotton jeans. The look is more relaxed yet still polished by mixing a blazer with t-shirt and shorts - perfect for a weekend in the Hamptons.

VARIETY

COLLECTION: A play on colors, pattern and layering. With a hint of the nautical theme, this collection also includes variety stripes - styled playfully for fashion week by contrasting small and large club stripes. Layering of mixed and around the shoulders as worn prep schools in Ham.

COUNTRYSIDE COLLECTION: Taking a step away from the coast to the forest, we explored earth tones from rich browns to olive, tan, orange with a hint of blue. Floral and floral inspired with subtle details and understated stripes in green, gold and brown. Textures are more polished look. Rustic and rugged add to the country, outdoorsy and relaxed feel that defines Regatta.

But so to be sure there were the Candie's girls that closed the party, that only to make suggest that, obviously Candie's has left the runway show's reputation sparkling them a new breed of any previous have come out to and everyone's vision.

A night of historical University of Iowa into coming true, Candie's has not played enough time up and stands to the air—fashion, culture, thought, opinion, and a lot more of fashion that's as tempting as your favorite sweet collection. Candie's is the brand that's only, beyond happening, a cut above for the girl who is having the picture.

PHILIPPINE FASHION WEEK claims

Vivid is the VAIO of 2011

VAIO C Series

VAIO Presents Design Fusion / Visions & Trends at the Philippine Fashion Week Holiday 2011

The glimmering star of the Philippines' art and music capital turned fashion technology, with strong signs, their vision are just forward Sony VAIO as it presented Design Fusion / Visions & Trends of the Philippine Fashion Week Holiday 2011. Presented at the show were the collections of the famous, Don Pineda, Razel Alakabara, Wesley Nolasco, Arlene Ordoña, Alex Lagor, Enrico Canardo, Mappo Andokito, Job Ramirez, Jan Garcia, Kenneth Chua, Regine Sano, and Dr. Gu. The designers' respective collections served as the perfect backdrop for showcasing the art of VAIO, the innovative technology of the designs, with VAIO, fashion and technology go side by side. Much like any design show, the art of VAIO is both an ongoing creative process and a final masterpiece created especially for other individuals today and tomorrow. The Art of VAIO was once again captured and manifested in the Philippine Fashion Week Holiday 2011, where two of Sony's latest offerings - the youthful, innovative VAIO C and the elegant VAIO E - became the inspirations for the designers to give renewed life to their operations for the brand name.

Motivated by the uniquely modern, sleek and premium VAIO models, the fashion designers were able to add a stamp of individuality to creations of wearable, chic and modern clothes that will surely catch the public's eye.

These VAIO models were all beautifully exhibited at the high fashion boutique display, which highlights the distinctive colors and vibrant features of the premium brand, allowing consumers to view them in all their glory. Experience was also showcased to its end experience the new VAIO models before and after the fashion show.

VAIO C Series

Vivid is the VAIO of 2011

For the start of 2011, Sony is spreading color into the personal computer landscape as it re-introduces VAIO C. It is defined by an attractive choice, using a light emitting material that comes in fluorescent hues of orange, green, and pink, and is elegantly simple black and white. Depending on its surroundings, the new VAIO C gives the impression of glowing and shining with light.

The 14-inch VAIO C is a high-performing like-a-glass option for an Intel Core™ i3 processor, or a hybrid GPU System that switches automatically depending on user's power requirement.

Truly Mobile Remarkably Powerful

The VAIO E, born in its positioning as a business tool, gets redefined with the new series. Conceptualized for business travelers, the VAIO E comes in a new built design, with a concealed hinge, and a powerful magnesium base. Responding to the needs of constant mobility, an optional full-extended battery is also available for the VAIO E to give the user 32 hours of battery life. This extended battery can be charged on its own with the use of a dedicated charger. And should the extended battery when needed for longer hours of productivity, the remarkable 12-inch screen does not sacrifice on performance, with the latest 2nd generation Intel Core™ i5 processor and AMD Radeon™ HD 6470M GPU with 512MB VRAM.

VAIO E Series

The Art of VAIO in brand new models

Response to the market's needs and requirements, Sony is also offering more VAIO product series that are focused on mobility, design, and performance. Aside from VAIO C, another dynamic line-up is the VAIO E, which comes in sleek colors and unique patterns. From the collage notes to the business district neon signs, VAIO E embodies elements of each person's individuality. Measuring an 11.6-inch display, the VAIO E Series is designed to be stylish and ergonomic. Its profile comes together in a convergence line, for a sleek, tapered look, but featured not incredibly light or less than 1.8 kg. The VAIO E can easily be tipped inside one's briefcase or bag, setting up to 4 hours without charging. The series is powered by an AMD Dual-Core processor E-550 with AMD Radeon™ HD 6310 discrete-GPU graphics, delivering an incredibly vivid and smooth HD experience, including comprehensive playback of full HD video, and rapid internet operations.

Lastly, Sony introduces the new VAIO E series, the first ever 15" VAIO. It brings a 15.6" Air HD display, boasting bright and crisp 3D images, optimized for multimedia, business viewing. Powered by Intel Core™ i3 dual-core processor and 4GB DDR3 memory, the VAIO E, Sony brings forth the game-changing technology of the BRAVIA and revises it home enjoyment method with LED backlit screen in the VAIO E.

Sony in Philippine Fashion Week Holiday 2011
